

The Time of Empire™ A Colonial District Walk

"The guide's knowledge of the history of Singapore is encyclopedic and she engages very well indeed with her listeners... It made our visit so much more worthwhile."

– Sylvia Murphy, Australia

"Best activity in Singapore - will be back for more when we pass through again."

– Pauline Seux, Brisbane, Australia

Tour Synopsis

"This place possesses an excellent harbour... Singapore is everything we could desire" ~ Sir Stamford Raffles, 1819. On 6th February 1819, Singapore was claimed as a trading outpost of the British Empire to "secure to the British flag the maritime superiority of the Eastern seas". In governance, religion, entertainment, and many other spheres, the imprint of Singapore's colonial past is indelible. This is the Walk where you learn about Singapore's national flower, the Sarkies brothers, The Straits Times and that wonderful drink called 'the Singapore Sling'. Discover Singapore's colonial legacy from The Time of Empire.

Book Tour

Buy Online and Save

Every Monday / 9.30am – 12.00nn

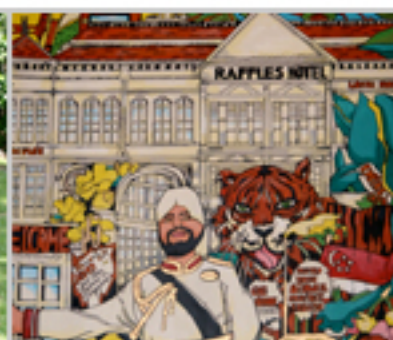

Meet at City Hall MRT Station, outside Exit B (North Bridge Road)

CLICK TO VIEW MAP

By Cab: Alight at the MRT exit at the junction of North Bridge Road and Stamford Road. Nearest landmark is St. Andrew's Cathedral.

End Point: Long Bar at Raffles Hotel

Tour Highlights:

- Explore the 150-year-old Saint Andrew's Cathedral, witness to many historic events and personalities of colonial Singapore
- Venture onto Coleman Street and get to know the man behind all the early colonial architecture of Singapore
- Trace the fascinating history of the Armenian Diaspora at the Armenian Church - the oldest church in Singapore and a beautiful gem of a building surrounded by lush tropical fauna
- Hear the colourful stories of the French missionary and discover their imprint at the gorgeous CHUmes building, a former Convent
- Re-live the nostalgia of the Golden Era of Travel at one of Singapore's last remaining grand bungalows, now better known as the Raffles Hotel
- Love it or hate it, one has not been to Singapore without having fling-ed with the famous Singapore Sling!